

Indian mound found at Clermont Harbor

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

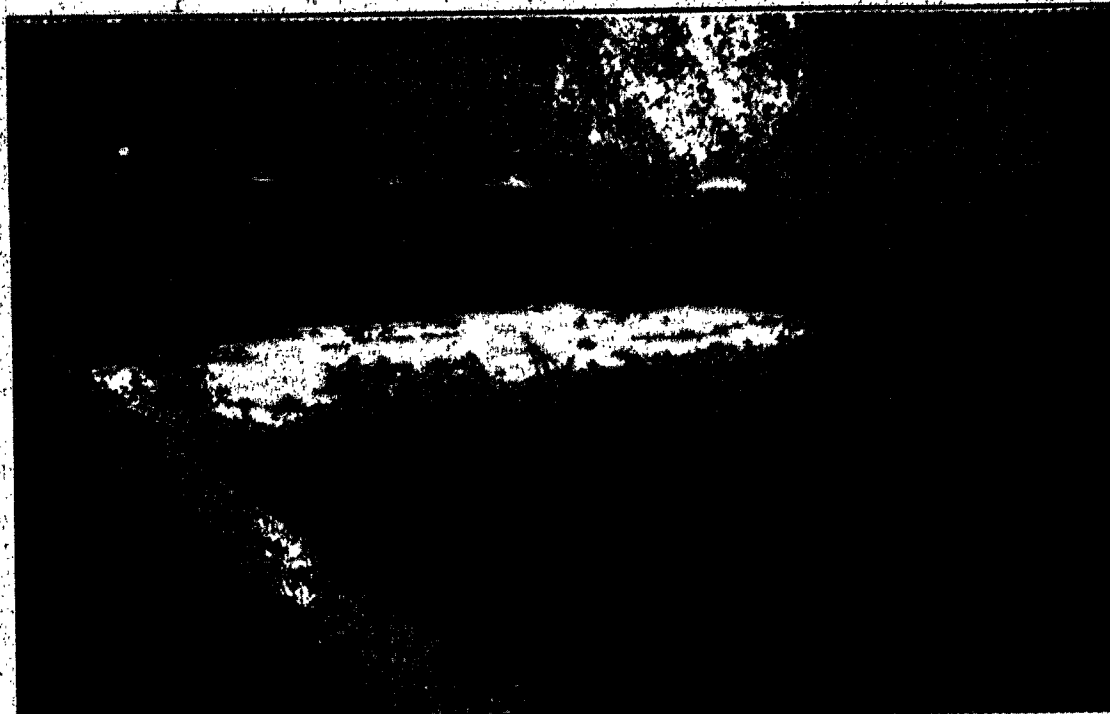

When amateur archeologist Russell Guerin heard about a recently proposed hotel and casino project for the Clermont Harbor area, he decided it was time to speak up about what he believes may be a historical site in the area. Guerin said the shell midden at the foot of Poinset Ave. could be an important site for many reasons.

Though he remembers the small rise of sand with grass growing from it from childhood, it was about three years ago — while assisting friend Dr. Marco Giardino on a dig at Buccaneer Park — that Guerin says he found a prehistoric Indian pottery shard buried at the midden.

He asked Giardino, who is a trained archeologist and serves as chief of NASA Earth Science Applications, to take a look at the site. Guerin said Giardino was of the opinion that the site had been artificially formed and therefore a midden.

Middens are the archeological term for clam shell mounds that were formed when a culture ate the clams and threw the shells in mounds. Other elements of the culture were also thrown on the middens.

"The middens were essentially garbage heaps," said Guerin. There is a large one at Logtown, at the old Claiborne plantation at Port Bienville and many other locations, said Guerin. One of the more famous middens is in North Louisiana, he said. The significance of this one is that it is accessible to the public, Guerin said.

Amateur archeologist Russell Guerin says this strip of beach that juts into the Mississippi Sound at Clermont Harbor is actually a prehistoric Indian shell midden.

Last month, in an e-mail to Guerin, Giardino wrote in support of a Cultural Resources Survey for the site, before a decision is made on the fate of either the hotel complex or the casino that developers are proposing at the foot of Poinset Ave. In the e-mail Giardino states that he believes "the location is a high probability for both pre-historic and historic sites."

"I have personally discovered Native American artifacts on the small spit that extends into the gulf ... further I have examined the ground and found situ archaeological deposits on that spit ... this would indicate that more undisturbed archaeological deposits extend across the beach road to the lot in question,"

Giardino continues.

The lot across the road is a part of the property for the proposed location of the hotel complex. Giardino said that he believes an archeological survey could possibly be required under Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act before development of the site could be considered. Any survey must be performed by a professional archeologist and approved by the state office of the agency in Jackson.

Guerin said the midden also extends underwater at high tide to both the west and east of the spit at the beach. He is concerned that there would not be enough room for a casino boat between the Clermont Harbor Pier and the midden, he said. Middens are usually between 1,000 and 3,500 years old, Guerin said. Guerin is a member of the Louisiana Archeological Society and a volunteer researcher at the Hancock County Historical Society.

New scam tried on local residents

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

There is a possibility of a SCAM being promoted via telephone in the area, according to Sheriff's Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt.

"A resident reported on Sept. 30, that he had received a telephone call, at which time the caller said he had qualified for a $8,000 federal government grant," Hurt said.

"The caller requested the resident's date of birth, social security number and bank number, so the grant could be wired to his bank account."

Hurt continued, "The resident requested to be called back within an hour. He then called the sheriff's office to see if such a program was going on and we were unable to find any at the time. In further searching, we still have not been able to."

An hour later the resident received a return call by another party and was told the same story and asked for the same information.

When he asked for their telephone number, he was disconnected.

Hurt said he wants the general public to be very cautious and not give out personal information over the telephone, as he said, "If it sounds too good to be true, it is too good to be true."

Hurt added, "There is always someone out there trying to get your money."

It took five hours for three volunteers to remove the black spray painted graffiti on the Flag Retirement Pit and Fountain display, Sunday morning at the Waveland Veterans Memorial. ## Vandals deface Vets Memorial third time

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS
Publisher Emeritus

Frustration was clear on the faces of three volunteers Sunday morning as they removed black paint from the Veterans Memorial on Beach Boulevard at Coleman Avenue, Waveland. Raymond A. Cuevas, commander of American Legion Post 77 - who was also the Memorial chairman during its construction several years ago - on Sunday pretty much summoned it up when he said, "I cannot understand how someone could deface a memorial to the men and women who served our country over the years, or those now fighting, and some losing their life fighting for our continued freedom."

Waveland Police Chief Jimmy Varnell on Monday said, "I cannot understand how someone would do something like this. Our department is investigating the vandalism and it very much seems to be gang related."

An award of $1,000 has been offered for the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

Cuevas, Waveland Alderman Santo Saucier and Felton J. Cuevas worked five hours Sunday, wire brushing, spraying carburetor cleaner and then pressure washing the graffiti off the Flag retirement pit and Fountain display. They used three cases of carburetor cleaner.

Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo at the scene Sunday, just shook his head in trying to understand the motives of the vandals.

"I cannot understand how anyone would do such a thing," Longo said.

Varnell reported his officers have been seeking information from residents of the area to see if they may have observed unusual activity Saturday evening at the Memorial.

"You know, the last subject apprehended through our investigation for vandalism at the Veterans Memorial spent 30 days in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility, in addition to doing many hours of community service," a disturbed Varnell stated.

Cuevas said, "Volunteers have spent hundreds and hundreds of hours to beautify the grounds around the monument. We had a lot of community support a couple years ago, as there are many Veterans residing in our area. We received landscaping materials from businesses, donations from individuals and businesses to improve the memorial's grounds."

In a press release Tuesday Varnell said, "Officer Glen Volkman was dispatched to the Waveland Municipal pier Saturday evening after receiving a report from the on duty pier ranger reporting she saw gang graffiti spray painted on one of the Cabanas. Volkman was then informed by a patron of the pier that the Veterans Memorial had also been defaced with graffiti."

"All of the graffiti were signs that are frequently used by gang members. Anyone who may have witnessed this vandalism, or saw something in the area unusual from around 5 to around 7 p.m. Saturday, are asked to please call the Waveland Police Department at 228-467-3669," Varnell said.

Varnell's release continued, "A lot of the younger American public really do not realize the tremendous debt we owe our Veterans of the past and present wars. The tremendous amount of work (on the monument) by the City of Waveland, American Legion Post 77, and so many volunteers, so that we can enjoy the memories of our past and present Veterans, is such a beautiful thing."

"The Waveland Police Department is trying its best to guard the memorial, but needs help from all our citizens, as we depend on them to help us monitor our city and urge them to call in anything they may see that appears to be suspicious, vandalizing, or misusing the memorial in any way. Just give us a call at 467-3669, or on your cell dial 911."

Clermont Harbor beach hearing set

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

The renourishment of a small strip of beach offshore of Bordage Ave., by the Clermont Harbor community, will be the subject of a public hearing which will be held next Wednesday, October 13, at 6 p.m. at the Coast Electric Power Association Conference Center at 302 Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis.

County supervisors are seeking a permit from the Department of Marine Resources for the project. In question will emergent and submerged vegetation in the 1.26 acre area proposed for renourishment. Approximately .39 acre of emergent vegetation and 1,000 ft. of submerged vegetation will be effected. The county is suggesting that the displaced vegetation be transplanted to a mitigation site offshore and east of Forrest St.

The real question may be, according to Clermont Harbor Civic Association President Millie Usher, why the county is only planning to renourish this small area. Clermont residents have been asking the county to reconstruct approximately four blocks of their beach for some time now. Usher said that lack of upkeep over the years allowed the beach to wash away. She said the same lack of upkeep allowed the grass to grow on the small remaining section of beach.

Usher also took issue, she said, with the fact that the legal ad announcing the proposed project did not run in the local county newspaper. A press release announcing the public hearing was released by the DMR on Oct. 4. Legal ads ran in September, in an out of county newspaper, with a September 29th cutoff date listed for written comment.

The deadline for public comment has been extended to Oct. 15 at 5 p.m., according to the Oct. 4 press release. Those wishing to make a written comment should send them to the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources at 1141 Bayview Ave., Biloxi, MS, and also to the Office of Pollution Control, P.O. Box 10385, Jackson, MS. 39289-385.

Used Cars Sold to Public, Some $49

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY OCTOBER 8TH, 9TH, 2004
Current market conditions create a remarkable buying opportunity,
Friday and Saturday Only

Slidell, La. As part of a proposal to deplete their used car inventory, local automotive dealership, Robert Levis Chevrolet, Cadillac plans to sell down over $2,000,000.00 in quality used cars this Friday and Saturday only.

All vehicles will be sold for huge dealer discounts off the price posted on the windshield October 8 & 9 only. Some cars will be sold for $49. "Why price these vehicles so low?" According to, Chris Raymond, Used Car Mgr. "The used car market is flooded with excess inventory due to the 0% financing on new vehicles."

The Weakened Economy Means Savings

"New car customers are trading vehicles at faster intervals, creating a surplus of quality used cars," Chris continued. The bottom line is that used cars are at critically high inventory levels. Due to these conditions, we have no choice but to relinquish this inventory immediately."

For this event, Robert Levis Chevrolet, Cadillac has agreed to offer these vehicles to the public at astonishing savings before some are shipped to auction. "The community has shown us great support and we're thankful. We would rather offer these vehicles to our customers at a greatly reduced price than auction. Even if we sell some cars for $49!"

All types of vehicles will be available for this event, including cars, trucks, vans and sport utility vehicles from trade-ins, lease returns, and program cars.

Authorized Inventory Reduction

"Our inventory must be reduced immediately so customers can expect to buy at drastically reduced prices," Chris stated.

Starting at 8:30 am sharp until CLOSE $49*, vehicles will be sold throughout the day on a first come, first-served basis. Only customers who are officially registered at the registration table are eligible for these vehicles. Please bring newspaper clipping.

Registration for the $49* Price Cutter Sale will begin at 8:30 am. At that time, all vehicles will be opened so that customers can inspect the vehicles. The dealers selling price is posted on the windshield of each vehicle. When the price Cutter Sale officially begins at 10:00 am. "The Price Cutter Manager" will cut the posted retail price on the windshield from $6,000 to $10,000 off**** on each vehicle. Some will be cut 50% from the dealer's selling price!*** Registered customers will then have the first opportunity to purchase that vehicle at the new reduced price.

Only one markdown will be taken. Some vehicles will be marked to $49*.

No auction license is required to purchase these vehicles. This Price Cutter Sale is available to the public. Auto dealers and wholesalers must register to participate.

"We've simplified the process," said Chris. "Select the vehicle you are interested in and when the Price Cutter comes and cuts the price, the car is yours at the reduced price! Some at 50% off the dealer's selling price!***"

Credit Requirements Reduced for this Event

In addition, Robert Levis Chevrolet Cadillac has low interest rate money and special financing available for this Two day only event. "We can get you pre-qualified before the sale regardless of your past credit situation," Chris said. Our creditors say LET US FINANCE YOUR FUTURE NOT YOUR PAST!!

"If you've been waiting for a great deal on a used vehicle, the time is now! This $49* Price Cutter Sale will be the perfect opportunity for a quality vehicle at incredible savings while we drastically deplete our inventory."

The Price Cutter Sale event will be held at Robert Levis Chevrolet Cadillac 312 Howze Beach Rd. Slidell, La. VEHICLES WILL BE SOLD FOR $49. For more info. call 985-693-5788 and ask for Chris Raymond.

Monument vandals should be ashamed

At this time America has men and women in 'harm's way' in Iraq and areas of the world, trying to protect our freedom.

Yet, there are a few idiots out there who have no respect for the men and women of years ago, or those who recently gave their lives, been injured, or are who face life-threatening dangers every day.

Once again some idiot or idiots took it upon their lowly selves to vandalize the Veterans Memorial Saturday evening on Beach Boulevard at Coleman Avenue, Waveland.

If I can recall correctly, the last 'dude' who got caught ended up paying a fine and spending 30 days in the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility, in addition to having to perform community service.

So many have served our country over the years, just as my three brothers who are retired from the military with over 20 years each, and myself, who did three years in service.

Needless to say, Waveland Police are investigating the vandalism and hopefully the 'idiot or idiots' will be apprehended.

Cruisin' the Coast is here ... vintage vehicles are all over the highways and roadways, vehicles from just about every state in the nation are here. Events did begin last Sunday, but, the big action for Bay St. Louis and Waveland takes place today, tomorrow and Saturday.

Even though vehicles started parking in the Bay on Tuesday, probably to get a good space.

Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo is elated to have the event extended to his city. This is a project he has been working on for the past several years.

Coleman Avenue will have a 'flock' of vehicles with their drivers showing their muscle on a special 'burnout' track.

Bay St. Louis will have its regular menu with possibly more viewing area of the vehicles. It seems the thousands of vehicle owners just like the great hospitality they receive in Bay St. Louis, so they all want to come here.

So, between them, Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Casino Magic, and the county, there should be a record number of visitors to our area.

By the way, in addition to the vehicle owners, there will be many spectators too, as many plan the Cruisin' the Coast as their vacation time.

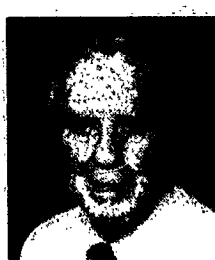

In the downtown area of Bay St. Louis there will be several streets closed to traffic. Also, in Waveland, Coleman Avenue will be closed for Cruisin' activities.

Indian casino revenues elude state

Figuratively under the cover of darkness in December 1992, Kirk Fordice signed away any right of the state to share in revenues from the big-time gaming casinos run by the Choctaw Indians at Philadelphia.

Without any public disclosure or consultation with then Atty. Gen. Mike Moore, Fordice signed a 45-page compact with the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians to not only permit gaming, but also allow liquor sales on the Choctaw reservation in dry Neshoba County.

There's no provision in the compact for the state of Mississippi to get a share in revenues derived from any casinos established by the Choctaws.

In seven states compacts with Indian tribes require revenue-sharing from tribal gaming operations. One state--Colorado--gets 25 per cent of gaming receipts, this year yielding $405 million to the state general fund.

This fiscal year six states with revenue-sharing compacts, according to the National Conference of State Legislatures, report they will receive at least $565 million in revenue, with more from pending negotiations.

No figures were reported for New York which also has a compact requiring tribal gaming to be paid to the state.

Casino-style gambling on Indian tribal lands nationwide in 2003 generated a whopping $16.7 billion, according to the federal National Indian Gaming Commission. That is one-fifth of the total gaming take nationwide.

Just how much the Mississippi Choctaws take in at their thriving Silver Star and Golden Moon casinos is not public information. Shawn Pensoneau, director of the NIGC, said the figure is reported to the commission, but not public record.

However, based on the nationwide tribal gaming gross given out by the NIGC, estimates are that the Mississippi Choctaw casinos generate between $500 million and $750 million a year, down slightly the past year.

Three years ago, Mississippi's two U.S. Senators, Thad Cochran and Trent Lott, slipped a rider into a bill that exempted the Mississippi Band of Choctaws from paying fees to the Indian Gaming Commission.

Let's hear it for the Hurricane Hunters

It could only have started with a dare. On July 27, 1943, Lt. Col. Joe Duckworth, a flight instructor in Bryan, Texas, flew a single engine propeller plane called a North American AT-6 "Texan" trainer into the eye of an approaching hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico. Why? Because the other pilots at the flight school in Bryan, Texas dared him to do it to prove that the small AT-6 could handle rough weather. He circled the eye several times and returned to Bryan, where he soon took off again with the base weather officer who took readings during the second trip into the storm. Their successful return marked the beginning of modern hurricane hunting.

Today, Hurricane Hunters are a vital component in the tracking and monitoring of hurricanes. The 53rd Weather Reconnaissance Squadron is a component of the 403rd Wing located at Keesler Air Force Base. This daring squadron is composed entirely of reservists who schedule their annual two-week service during the peak of hurricane season. They come from a wide range of backgrounds and experiences and hail from fifteen states.

This season has been a busy one for the Hurricane Hunters. There have been 13 storms in the Atlantic and 13 in the Pacific. When combining NOAA and the 53rd's hours, September 2004 was the busiest month for weather reconnaissance on record. The 53rd flew 30% more hours this September than the average for the last five seasons. The Hurricane Hunters flew 84 missions for August and September. From July 30th to September 23rd they flew 50 out of 56 days. During that time they flew 27 straight days. As impressive as that number is, it is still less than the 35 straight days in 2002, and the 39 straight days in 1988.

The crews fly 24/7 through high winds, pounding rain and hail, and lightning. Throughout the flight the crew is recording and transmitting information. A parachute sensor, known as a dropsonde, is released from the plane and transmits meteorological data on its way down to the ocean surface. Upon request from the National Data Buoy Center out of Stennis Space Center, the Hurricane Hunters may also drop up to four of the large Wind Speed and Direction Buoys in the hurricane's path. These buoys are dropped all over the world, yet the planes of the 53rd are the only to open their cargo doors to drop these 700-pound buoy packages. Continued from Page 4A storm's development. The information we see in the media on hurricane updates is directly attributed to the work of the Hurricane Hunters.

Whether it is a small tropical storm or a raging Category 5, these crews are flying into them. Their efforts help us know the nature of each storm and how to sufficiently prepare to protect our homes and families.

The Hunters have flown several aircrafts since Lt. Col. Duckworth's AT-6. The current plane is a 1965 model C-130 Hercules aircraft called a WC-130H and is specially outfitted for weather reconnaissance. These planes and their crews help monitor storms in the Atlantic, Caribbean, Gulf of Mexico, and the Hawaii area.

The information gathered during missions is transmitted to the National Hurricane Center in Miami, Fla. It is estimated that the cost of evacuating an area is $1 million per mile. Hence, we can all greatly appreciate how the efforts of Hurricane Hunters have increased forecast accuracy by 30%.

Though the 53rd Weather Reconnaissance Squadron focuses on hurricanes, it is not the only service they provide. Outside of hurricane season these crews fly into the dangerous winter storms of the east coast. These storms pose a threat all their own as they can bring cities and communities to standstills with snow and wind. The threat is also real for the hurricane hunters whose de-icing mechanisms must combat the icy build up on the plane as they fly through turbulent wind, lightning strikes, and manage the threat of static electric charges.

The Hurricane Hunters also lend a hand in certain scientific studies as needed, and have assisted in search and rescue operations. Sometimes, during routine weather training flights, the crews are accompanied by military medical personnel who want to practice using their equipment in the difficult conditions inherent to a military transport plane in flight. This type of training helps prepare them to administer medical attention in the toughest of circumstances to save lives.

Hurricane Hunters are an essential component in emergency preparedness. Their training and dedication helps save lives year in and year out. In the prolonged national trend of military downsizing it seems some in Washington lose sight of what is important.

Protecting American lives is important. Because of bad policy our bases are threatened, our Naval fleet is threatened, and since the early 1990's even our Hurricane Hunters have been scrutinized under the microscope of budget cuts. I have fought against the trend in all three of these areas. I know that our current challenges of national defense in no way dictate a smaller Navy or fewer bases. I also know that the devastating power of hurricanes demands that we monitor them to the best of our ability. I think this year's activity shows that this unique Squadron is a vital component in protecting Americans from these dangerous natural disasters. My actions in Congress will always work to support these brave Americans who do so much for so many.

The residents of South Mississippi have a deep respect for hurricane season and, thus, a deep appreciation for our Hurricane Hunters.

We have seen the high winds and rising waters destroy our homes and businesses. In the worst storms we have lost friends and loved ones. Our long history of reckoning with hurricanes has made us sensitive to the challenges Floridians now face. Our hearts and prayers go out to them.

Minor -- Choctaw casinos

The compact Fordice signed with the Choctaws in 1992 has no term limit on its duration. There is also no provision to amend or renegotiate the compact, unlike stipulations in Indian gaming compacts in almost every other state.

Only by mutual agreement of both the state and the Council of the Choctaw Band of Indians could the Mississippi compact be cancelled or reviewed. That's not likely to happen.

This writer obtained a copy of the compact signed by Fordice, and Phillip Martin, chief of the Choctaws, the first time any Mississippi journalist is believed to have seen it.

The only money Mississippi gets out of the mega-bucks Choctaw gaming operation under the compact is $250,000 a year that the tribe agreed to pay to the state development agency for advertising and promotion of tourism for the casinos.

Yet, as recently reported by Ana Radalat, Washington correspondent for The Clarion-Ledger, Chief Martin since 1988 has paid nearly $11 million to Washington lobbyist Jack Abramoff, who is now being investigated by the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs and the U.S. Department of Justice.

The Choctaws and three other tribes with gaming interests are also under scrutiny for paying some $45 million to a public relations firm associated to Abramoff.

The investigation of Abramoff stems from charges that he used a big chunk of the money paid him by Martin and other tribes to pay Ralph Reed, the former Christian conservative leader and head of President Bush's southeast re-election campaign, to keep competing casinos from opening in the region.

Reed, formerly director of the Christian Coalition, has confirmed he was paid as much as $4 million by Abramoff to form an anti-gaming group to defeat gambling initiatives in the South, especially Alabama.

When Fordice signed the compact with Chief Martin, he pulled the rug from under Mike Moore's office which at the time was defending the state in a federal court suit brought earlier by the Choctaws contending that the state had not acted in good faith by not signing the compact.

Just days before he went out of office in 1992, Gov. Ray Mabus had sent a copy of the compact over to Moore with a note that he planned to sign it. Moore and his staff came down hard on Mabus, arguing the proposed compact was a bad deal and that without legislative authorization he lacked power to sign off on it.

Mabus backed off. Nothing was said about it for months, and nothing was said publicly even when it suddenly became known to Moore it was a done-deal under Fordice.

There's no question that the multi-million dollar hotel developments and tourist destinations in the red clay east-central hill country, built around gaming casinos brought in by Chief Martin and his Choctaws, have been a boon to that economically struggling area.

But the question remains, at a time almost all our state services are financially strapped by a thin tax base, can a way be found to derive badly needed revenue from the huge tribal gaming operation?

Certainly, many other states with tribal gaming

Bay okays Magic Road RV park

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Staff Writer

Plans for a new RV park off Casino Magic Road got the nod Tuesday by Bay St. Louis City Council. Again.

In a four-one vote, council approved Ira Hatchett's proposed recreational vehicle park next to his WBSL radio station. It was the fourth time council has okayed the project in recent years.

This time around, council decided it's not fair to limit the length of stay that patrons may make. Previously, council and the Planning and Zoning Commission had limited the length of stay to 30 or 90 days, depending on the time of the year.

Tuesday, Ward 2 council member Jim Thrifflay sought a 30-day limit throughout the year for park users, saying Hatchett had previously agreed to such a stipulation.

Hatchett denied ever having agreed to that limit, and opposed it Tuesday. Thrifflay voted against the proposal, when council agreed to forego limitations on stays.

Ward 3 council member Tom Farve said it was a matter of fairness to avoid limiting the length of stays, saying no other RV park in town has such a restriction.

"I want it to be just like the rest of the RV (parks) in the city of Bay St. Louis," said Farve. Connie Payne Lampley, who was defeated by Farve in a bid for the Ward 3 seat in the last election, also spoke in Hatchett's favor.

She noted that she had been on council four years ago when the project was first approved. "I thought the plan was a great plan," she said. "I thought the park would be an asset to the city, and that the owners would keep the park up."

The pending plan, she said, is exactly the same as the one first on the table. "Nothing's changed," she added, asking council to repeat its vote of approval.

Hatchett, for a variety of reasons, hasn't gotten his project off the drawing boards so far. The proposal has prompted long debates at meetings of the commission and council.

And although council has agreed to the project, it still must pass through the city's "site plan" approval process. That deals with the park layout and amenities, as well as ingress and egress for the trailers that will use the park.

Access to the facility off Casino Magic Drive is hotly contested by Casino Magic officials, which claims ownership of that route. And while the casino may contest that access in court, Hatchett says he has an alternative plan to funnel his traffic in and out of Blue Meadow Road.

In addition to the casino's opposition to Hatchett's RV park, officials of the Ay-Waveland school district have opposed the facility's development. Hatchett has agreed to build a fence separating his facility from the adjacent school properties.

In unrelated business, council members expressed shock that the casino generated $38,000 less in revenues to the city and schools in August than it did last August.

Mayor Eddie Favre said he was stunned to see those numbers, because August traditionally is a boom month at the casino. "They have stayed pretty packed," Favre said of the casino in August. "I'm not sure what happened ... We did not anticipate that kind of decrease" in revenues.

Favre said the city is asking the casino to re-check the figures, and is hoping some innocent error is at fault.

The mayor had brighter financial news, however, to give council members. He said the city has a tentative contract to continue its health insurance plan at current rates. Anticipating a hike, council had budgeted some $110,000 to cover the extra expense.

In another financial matter, Favre said the city could save some $146,000 by refinancing an old utility construction bond. Action to redo the bond is expected later this month.

Council also discussed a dilemma that could cost the city "big bucks," according to the mayor. Council member Farve said it's not fair that city employees were forced to take sick leave or vacation pay for two days during Hurricane Ivan.

City Hall was closed two days prior to the hurricane, which passed perilously close last month. The city's public works, fire and police personnel were on duty, while the administrative and clerical staff who work at City Hall couldn't go to work as usual because the building was closed.

Mayor Favre said there are legal questions on how to resolve the matter. Declaring the two days as "holidays" would mean the city would have to give extra pay to those who worked during the storm period, the mayor said.

"It would tickle me to death to say, 'You couldn't work, so we'll pay you,'" the mayor said. But, he said, if those days are designated as holidays, "We'll have to do it citywide. Then you're talking big bucks."

Farve and Favre locked into an animated debate over the issue, leading the mayor to defend his position as merely a "messenger" of the sticky news.

No, the council member Farve responded. "We're the messenger. You're the main man."

Waveland Police Department 'reorganizes' key personnel

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

A reorganization in the Waveland Police Department in no way signals a demotion of 26 year veteran police officer, Sandra Henley, said Mayor Tommy Longo. Lt. Michael Prendergast will move into Henley's position as assistant chief and Henley will move into the position of chief investigator.

The moves may seem sudden, but Longo said he has been working with Chief Jimmy Varnell on the changes for some time.

Changes in the department were essentially put into place when the budget for the department was drafted. The preliminary budget requests contained salary increases for Prendergast's new position and a raise for Henley. The department budget also included a salary for one more investigator and a Lieutenant position and some patrol positions, Longo said.

The move was a logical one, Longo said, and is a move that will put people into positions where they can best use the skills where they excel. Henley spent years as an investigator and has extensive experience in that field, Longo said.

"Many officers credit her with teaching them how to complete paper work and prepare for trial," he said. "Investigation is her thing."

With the loss of investigator Jim Goss to illness, the department was short-handed. The position of chief investigator had been vacant for years, Longo said. Henley will still be the second best paid officer in the department, with Varnell falling into first position.

Another driving force behind the changes is the desire to help the department become more involved in the community, especially the schools, said Longo. Prendergast is a natural when it comes to community involvement, Longo said, and already devoted a great deal of time to the effort. In his position as assistant chief, one of the principal duties will be to promote community involvement.

The upcoming annexation also prompted the moves, Longo said, making it clear that the city needed to utilize available officers in the positions where they could best serve the city. Of course, in a small department, everyone does everything if the need arises, said

Longo, and more people are needed on the street and less in administration.

Laura Stepro was also moved from the narcotics task force to the position of criminal investigator. Aldermen unanimously approved the changes on Tuesday. Varnell said that despite rumors to the contrary, morale in the department was at an all time high. He recently hired two officers from other departments who took pay cuts to work in Waveland, he said.

"I always say there are only two kinds of police officers, those that work for Waveland and those who want to work for Waveland."

investigation.

Mike Lauga said his family was still awestruck by their loss.

"We sat in front of the house until 8 p.m. (Wednesday) night just staring at what used to be our spot in the world," he said.

Right now, the Laugas said they are taking things one step at a time.

"When something like this happens, you're just kind of lost," Eugenia Lauga said. "The kids are going to school, but we don't know what to do."

Eugenia Lauga added that she runs a local taxi service, and was concerned that customers would not be able to reach her for some time, as her home phone number was the one that people usually contacted her on.

Mike Lauga, who currently does maintenance work for a mobile home park in Pearlington, has a background in construction. He said he does not yet know if he will try to rebuild at that location.

"Eventually, you've either got to let it go and move on, or rebuild. When you have to start from the ground up, it's a lot different."

While the Our Lady of the Gulf St. Vincent de Paul Society is helping to take care of some of the family's immediate needs, the Laugas still need help. With five children, their biggest concerns right now are clothes and a place to stay.

The Laugas have three girls and two boys. Their daughters Crystal, Angel and Angie are 18, 16 and nine. Their sons Eddie and Mike are 17 and seven respectively.

Donations can be made to the St. Vincent de Paul societies of OLG in Bay St. Louis, and St. Clare's in Waveland.

The family can be contacted directly on Eugenia Lauga's cell phone at 228-342-4557, or through her sister, Jane Smith, at 228-467-8460.

Cruisin-- traffic

St. in Bay St. Louis and Mollers Dr. in Waveland. Second St. will be two way and open to locals and cruisers. Court St. will be open to two way traffic.

There will be no formal venue at the Bay St. Louis Train Depot this year, but cruisers will be welcome to park there while eating or shopping at those businesses in the Depot area.

Once nearing Waveland, local traffic will be routed up Mollers Dr., with cruisers only going on to Coleman Ave. Cruisers will travel up Coleman to Central, go right on Central and right again on Lafitte Dr., which will route them back to Beach Blvd. for a drive back to Bay St. Louis.

Terrace Ave. will be blocked at Arlington St. to prevent access to Beach Blvd. and no traffic will be allowed to cross Coleman Ave. between Beach Blvd. and Central. Traffic on Central will be two way and open to cruisers and local traffic.

Entertainment stages will be located in front of the Hancock County Court House on Main St. in Bay St. Louis and on the beach at the Garfield Ladner Pier in Waveland. A "burnout" will be held at the lower end of Coleman Ave.

Hancock County building official Mickey Lagasse, who is coordinating cruising routes, said the route used in Waveland is the exact same one used for the St. Patrick's Day Parade, except with traffic traveling in the opposite direction.

"We hope people will treat the closings in the same way and come out in their yards and have picnics and barbecues and greet the cruisers," he said. "Organizers also hope people will come out to the beach and join in the festivities and use the walking track."

No vehicles will be allowed on the walking track, Lagasse said.

Charges -- dropped

Court prosecutor, said the charges were dropped because the chain of custody on the DUI 2nd charge had been broken.

"I could not pursue (the DUI charge) because when he was transferred to the sheriff's department, he was released before he could be tested."

Anderson said that the other charges were dropped after the DUI could not be prosecuted.

The officer was arrested after sheriff's deputies spotted two cars speeding down Highway 603. The deputies gave chase, and pulled both cars over near Stennis Airport Dr.

The undercover officer appeared to have been in a fight, and the deputies smelled liquor on his breath. He refused a DUI test, and was arrested, but was released soon after arriving in jail.

Kenny Hurt, chief investigator for the Hancock County Sheriff's office, said that the undercover officer was taken into custody again later, but the DUI charge was void by then.

"He said he was drinking in the (sheriff's) parking lot after he was released," Hurt said.

Hurt said he did not know what capacity the undercover officer worked in for the sheriff's department, other than that he was a commissioned officer. He added that the officer turned in his resignation soon after he was charged.

"We don't want people working for us breaking laws that we are trying to enforce," Hurt said.

Casino Magic helps collect Hurricane relief effort donations

As thousands of our Gulf Coast neighbors work to put their lives back together following the wrath of hurricane Ivan, Casino Magic Bay St. Louis team members have organized a hurricane relief effort which began Wednesday, Oct. 6 and lasts through Sunday, Oct. 10.

With the help of Casino Magic volunteers, team members and the public are invited to drop off needed items to be donated at the specially-marked truck in the Casino Magic parking lot from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

"Given the number of employees we have who all want to help and the volume of traffic generated during 'Cruisin' the Coast' weekend, we look forward to shipping a truckload or more of items needed," said Pam Fontenot, Casino Magic Human Resources Manager. "Just imagine what it would feel like if you or your family lost everything, and did not even have these simple items we use everyday," said Fontenot.

Items that are most needed include: canned goods, cleaning supplies, mops, brooms, paper products, trash bags, toilet paper, paper towels, diapers, formula, baby food and pet food.

For more information about this five-day relief drive, please call the Casino Magic Bay St. Louis Human Resources Department at 466-8093.

Using their heads

Thanks to a grant provided by the Diocese of Biloxi all the students at St. Clare School were fitted for their own personal helmet. Dr. Paul Gospodarski from the Brain Injury Association of Mississippi spoke to the parents and teachers at the school's PTO/ OpenHouse. He presented statistics on child brain injuries that are due to the lack of safety helmet use. Those present were impressed with the program and all the information that he supplied. The follow-up program for the children included instructions on when and where to wear their helmets. Above: Helmet 1: St. Clare fifth grader Corinne Huthofer is fitted with a safety helmet by PE instructor Mr. Erich Hoffer, in the background is Joshua Williams, also a fifth grader.

heartburn two or more days a week? If this condition persists despite over-the-counter treatments and diet change, you could be suffering from acid reflux disease.

Board certified general surgeon Brian Anthony will discuss symptoms, complications and treatment options for reflux disease Thursday, October 14 at 6 p.m. in Hancock Medical Center's Business Complex Classroom.

Gastroesophageal reflux disease (GERD), or acid reflux, is a medical condition that affects many Americans.

Common symptoms of this health problem are repeated bouts of heartburn, sour-tasting fluid in the throat and difficulty swallowing.

Complaints are frequently noted after consumption of a large meal, or when a patient bends over or lies down.

The culprit in this disease is a weakened one-way valve at the top of the stomach. Acids that break down food during the digestive process escape through the lower esophageal sphincter (LES) and travel backward through the esophagus and into the throat.

Sensitive tissue in the esophagus exposed to stomach acid over a long period of time can lead to inflammation, ulcers and scarring. Repeated exposure to these acids can lead to a stricture or narrowing of the esophagus, resulting in difficulty swallowing and the sensation that food is stuck in the throat.

The disease is worsened by smoking, caffeine, alcohol and consumption of the fried, spicy and fatty foods the Mississippi Gulf Coast is famous for.

Acid reflux can sometimes be managed by a combination of simple lifestyle and diet changes, medication and sometimes surgery.

Dr. Anthony will discuss the various treatment options during his talk. For additional information or to register for the free, seminar, call 467-8727.

Second Saturday in Bay St. Louis is Oct. 9

Serenity Gallery of Bay St. Louis will host an exhibit of the work of Bill Myers, known for his meticulous detail, extreme craftsmanship, and controversial subject matter which in this exhibit will include works in sculpture, painting, and drawings in pen and ink and pencil.

In this exhibit, Myers takes his particularly skewed vision to current cultural topics such as the presidency of George W. Bush, politics in general, SUV's, and racism. In the pen and ink drawing "The Last Cellular Supper", Myers has all the players at the table so engaged on cell phones that they miss the arrest of Jesus. Myers' humor is evident in his sculptures such as "High Flying" where passengers sit in park like settings on the outside of an airliner complete with wind-blown topiary, fountains, and a poodle flying at the end of its leash.

Myers currently shows with galleries in Los Angeles, Oregon, and is also featured in the invitational exhibit "ORANGE ALERT: Artist responds to 9/11 at Mobile's Space 301.

The show will open with a reception for the artist on October 9 as part of Bay St. Louis' Second Saturday Celebration and will run through November 9.

HOT SPOTS

The Loft, 144 Main Street celebrates its 7th anniversary with seven new artists, who will be at the gallery. The works include pastel portraiture, wood sculpting and jewelry. Original work and prints are available.

BUSINESS NEWS

Newspaper, college partnership benefits South Mississippi Regional Center workers

Pearl River Community College commercial truck driving student, Bobby Simmons of Picayune, slowly steered the school's semi-truck down Highway 53, a narrow, two-lane road that leads from Poplarville to the Gulf Coast. Fellow classmate, Toney Scott of Hattiesburg, rode in the passenger's seat and occasionally winced if the truck looked too close to a mailbox. Joy Harper of Laurel nervously waited in the backseat for her turn to drive.

However, the PRCC trucking students were not only gaining valuable on-the-job experience driving the big rig; they were on a goodwill mission. Along with their instructor, Daniel Smith, they are part of an unusual partnership between PRCC, The Sea Coast Echo newspaper, and the Poplarville branch of the South Mississippi Regional Center.

The students drive the 50 miles from Poplarville to Bay St. Louis to pick up discarded newspapers from the Hancock County newspaper office, and then they deliver them to the South Mississippi Regional Center in Poplarville for recycling.

"We make this trip about every two to three weeks," said Smith. "The Regional Center didn't have a way to pick up the newspapers from Bay St. Louis, so they asked me. Once my boss, Don Welsh, gave the go ahead, we were happy to do it. It's good driving experience for the students and good for the center."

"I think doing this is great," said Scott, a student trying to upgrade his commercial driving license from a class 'B' to class 'A'. "We go out and travel, and we really get some good driving experience."

Smith takes over driving duties once the students reach the city of Bay St. Louis. Yet the students are obviously impressed with Smith's skill as he maneuvers the small streets lined with park cars, some just inches from the semi.

"Man, I bet that lady thought we were going to hit her," said Simmons, who retired from the Army after 22 years as a truck driver and diesel mechanic. Smith assures the students that they will easily squeeze through tight spots as soon as they get accustomed to the truck.

Once Smith backs into the parking lot of the Sea

Clients

Coast Echo, two crates, holding thousands of pounds of newspapers, are quickly loaded on the truck.

"This arrangement is a win-win situation," said Randy Ponder, editor and publisher of The Sea Coast Echo. "The truck-driving students get valuable experience driving here, The Sea Coast Echo has an environmentally sound way of discarding its returned newspapers, which keeps tons of paper from taking up room in a landfill, and the South Mississippi Regional Center gets newspapers to recycle."

Even though the clients, who are employed by the SMRC River Country Enterprises, are mentally challenged, they recognize the value of the dollar, and they enthusiastically perform their jobs of separating the slick ads from the printed newspapers before they sell the papers for recycling.

"They love to work here because they like to make money," said Jill Smith, SMRC Poplarville Community Programs director. "Working here helps them practice skills, such as sorting, and it improves their manual dexterity and social skills. We hope working here will help them to eventually get a job out in the workforce."

According to Lennell Hammon, SMRC client supervisor, the clients have a great deal of useful work to do. "We have several contracts that provide jobs for our clients. We just began a contract with Chef Bill Popp of Waveland packaging his Creole Cajun Seasoning, we prepare plastic utensil packs for restaurants, we shred documents, we recycle Mardi Gras beads, and we recycle aluminum cans."

Of course the clients at the center differ from average employees-most of them are happy to be at work, they enthusiastically greet visitors, and they like their pictures taken.

Jobless rate drops

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's unemployment rate decreased to 5.8 percent in August, the state Department of Employment Security said Tuesday.

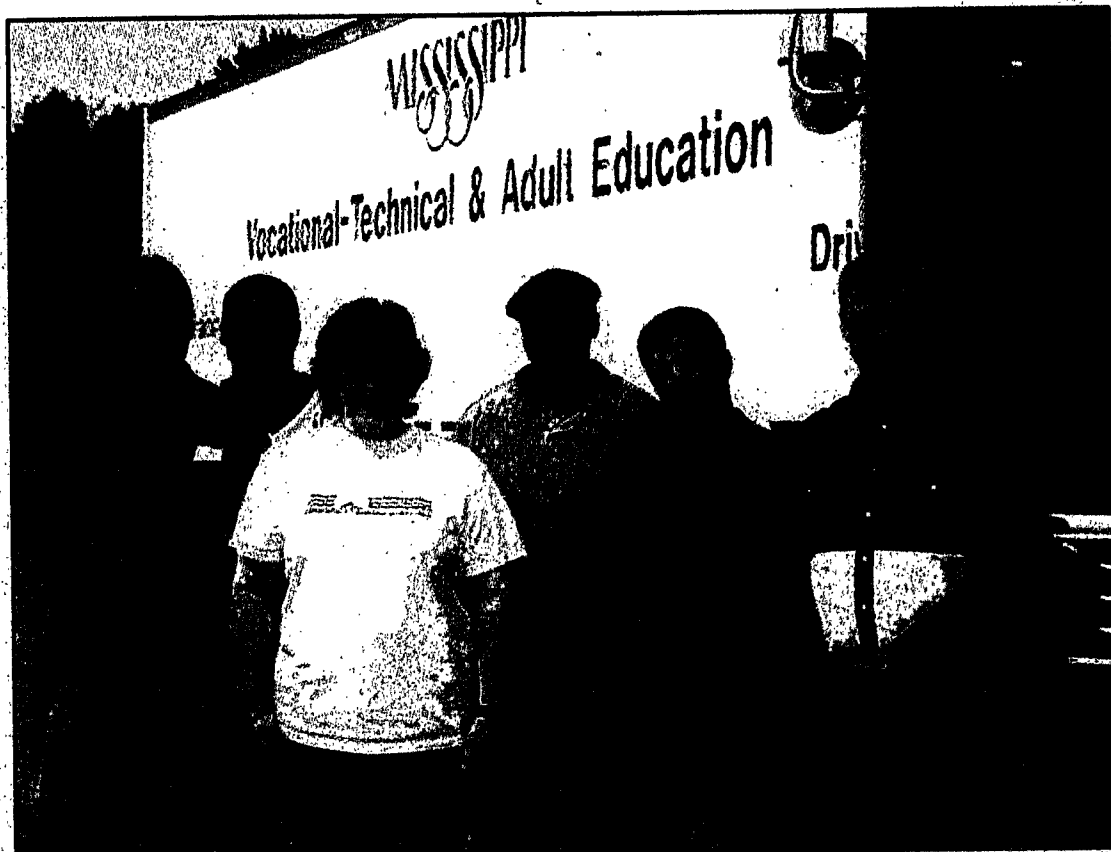

That's down from 6 percent in July.

Jefferson County had the highest unemployment rate at 20.5 percent. Holmes County had the second-highest at 14.4 percent.

Eighteen counties posted rates higher than 10 percent.

Rankin County had the lowest unemployment rate at 2.7 percent. Lamar County was 3.2 percent.

The nation's unadjusted unemployment rate was 5.4 percent in August, down from 5.7 percent in July. The seasonally adjusted rate for the nation was 5.4 percent in August, down from 5.5 percent in July.

Trucking

The current class for the PRCC Commercial Truck Driving School are, from left to right, Dr. Austin Anderson of Lumberton, a retired math teacher who wants to travel; Toney Scott of Hattiesburg, who wants to further his career; Joy Harper of Laurel, who is currently a security guard, but has wanted to drive a truck ever since her father brought home a shiny, new semi; Bobby Simmons of Picayune, retired from the Army; William Rouse of Lumberton, retired crane operator; and Daniel Smith, PRCC Commercial Truck Driving instructor.

RESTAURANT REVIEW

Presenting some of the Finest Restaurants on the Mississippi Gulf Coast

Attention Restaurant Owners...

Advertising is an investment in the success of your restaurant. Every restaurant has competition, either within the town or nearby city. Your potential customers are being courted by your competitors. If you do not invite those customers to do business with you, they are likely to forget you and dine elsewhere. It is not uncommon for consumers to switch their dining habits from one restaurant to another. Advertising helps to keep old customers and equally as important, make new ones.

Our community is constantly growing which means that potential customers are moving into the market area all the time. Advertising gives these newcomers a reason to visit your restaurant.

Most businesses budget for their advertising expenses just as they do for other necessities such as rent, phones, etc. Smart business people realize that advertising is imperative to keep their business growing.

Another reason to advertise is that advertising is news! You profit by telling our readers what is new in your restaurant. Through advertising, you can let a wide audience know what specials you are offering, perhaps what entertainment you may have and the character of your restaurant.

If you have something to sell, then you have something to advertise. When you have nothing to advertise, you are out of business. Advertising is designed to build your business and works best when it is repeated regularly. Consistent advertising pays off!

Now that you know some of the reasons to advertise, you're probably wondering how you can advertise most effectively. Surveys show that ads in local newspapers have more impact than in any other medium. The Sea Coast Echo goes into the majority of the homes in Hancock County. The Sea Coast Echo is full of interesting reading, it is a part of our community. People like to read about people and The Sea Coast Echo is full of pictures and stories about local people. The most important reason to advertise in The Sea Coast Echo is that our readers are your customers.

If you're looking for the best advertising value for your money, then you should contact the advertising department at The Sea Coast Echo. One of our advertising representatives will be happy to discuss the many advertising options offered by The Sea Coast Echo. For more information you may call 467-5474, Monday through Friday 8am to 5pm, or stop by our office at 124 Court Street, Bay St. Louis.

Since 1892, The Sea Coast Echo is proud to be a part of your community.

RESTAURANT OWNERS

TEN YEARS AGO

October 2, 1994 - Stennis International Airport has received a $1.7 million grant from the Federal Aviation Administration to overlay, stripe, and extend the terminal ramp by 90,000 square feet. Stennis is also fortunate that it will receive approximately $96,000 from the Mississippi Department of Transportation, which brings the total amount of funding near $1.8 million. The FAA grant is a 90% grant, the state department 5%, so the Hancock County Port and Harbor will only have come up with 5 percent of the cost for the project.

-Jackson consultants aired preliminary recommendations Thursday for the long-range development of Bay St. Louis, including a casino district with room for a controversial new development. City Council members and officials of Continental Consultants stressed that the ideas aired during the meeting were strictly preliminary, draft suggestions that are open for revision before Council considers a final plan. A long-range land map, for instance, proposes designation of the entire newly annexed area as a casino district. That includes the tract owned by Casino Magic and the undeveloped Raintree Casino tract at Cedar Point.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

October 4, 1984 - The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has formerly endorsed a $2.5 million jail bond issued that will appear on the November ballot. The board made the unanimous endorsement Monday after being addressed by Terrance Feeney, who represents the county's 30-member jail committee. Members of the jail committee attending the meeting to support Feeney's request included Fred Wagner, whose architectural firm designed the new jail. Also included were members of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, the Citizen's Advisory Committee, the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, the Waveland Board of Aldermen, the Waveland Police Department and others.

OLA defeats Bay for 5th straight volleyball division title

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Our Lady-Academy Crescents won their fifth consecutive volleyball title in an intense 5-game match against the Lady Tigers of Bay High on Wednesday, September 29.

Division 8 champion OLA (24-8) will host the East Central Lady Hornets Saturday at 11 a.m. in the Fater Pete Mockler Gym. East Central is the Division 7 runner-ups.

Bay High, as Division 8 runner-ups, will travel to Vancleave Saturday to face the Division 7 champion Lady Bulldogs.

The winners of those two contests will face the winners from other divisional matchups on Tuesday.

The South State Championship game will take place on Saturday at 3 p.m. at Madison Central High School near Jackson.

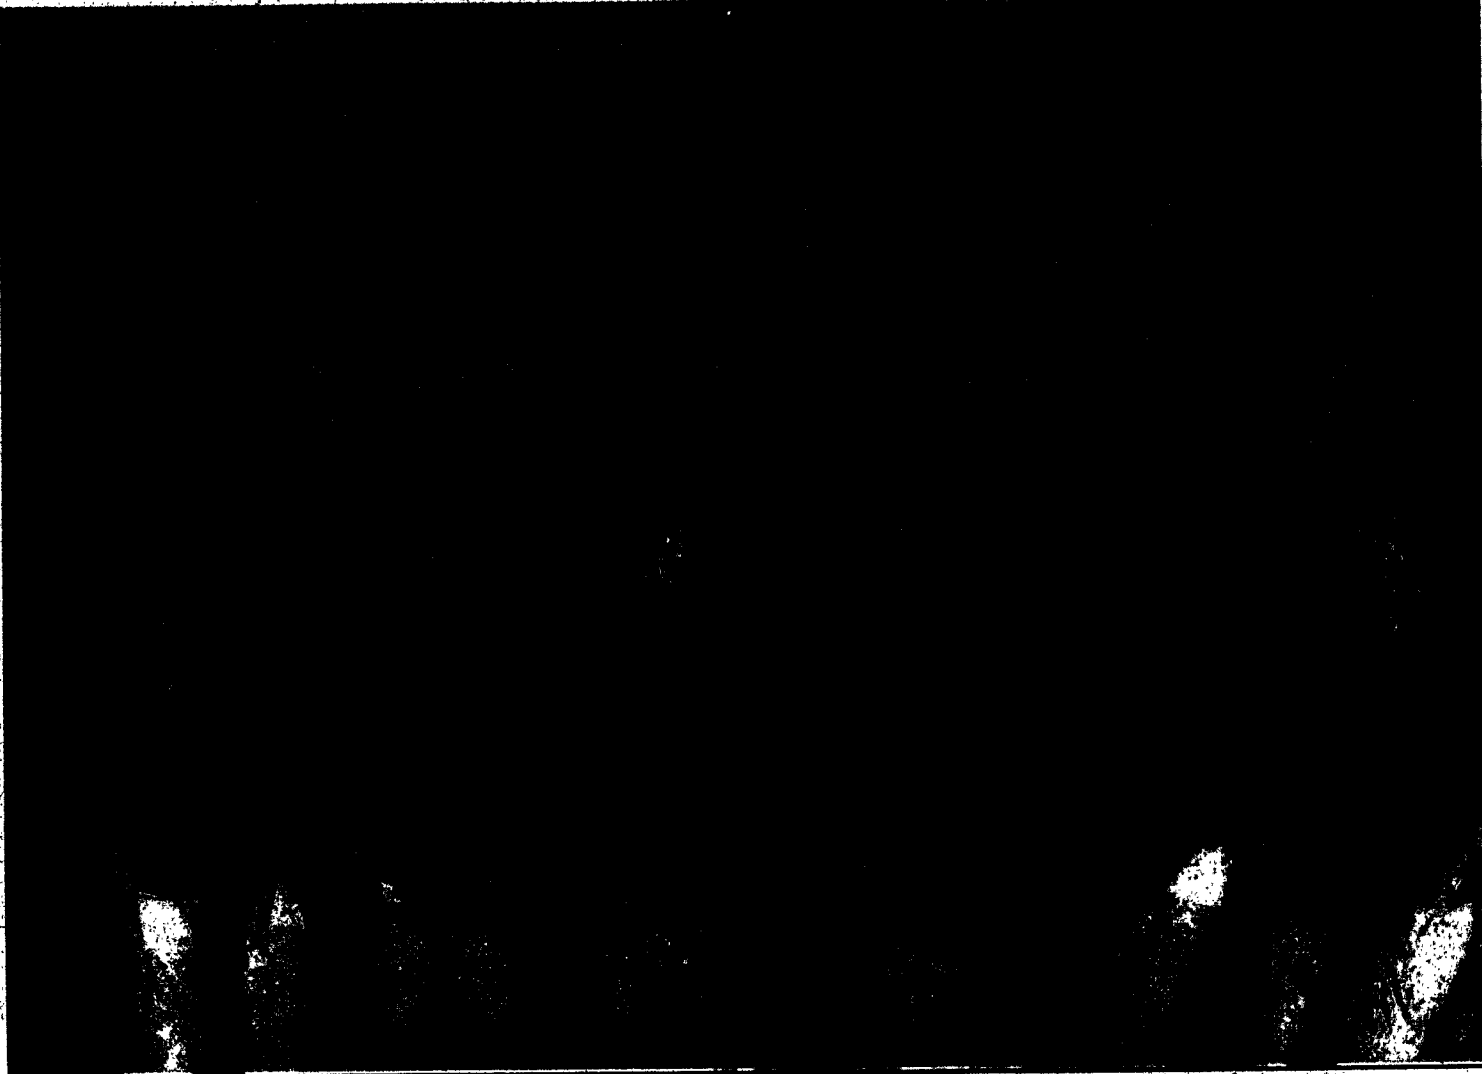

The State Championship game will follow immediately afterwards.

In last week's contest, the Lady Tigers took the first two games from OLA before the Crescents won three in a row to seal the division championship.

OLA won the last three games 25-21, 25-16 and 15-9.

Bay High head coach Liz Bosarge stated, "I am extremely proud of the way we played tonight. OLA just came back and won three straight. It was a very athletic and intense game by both teams."

OLA was led by Lauren Renz with 13 points followed by Jordan Fisher with

10. Kaylee Schmitt had 15 kills followed by Renz with 10, Annie Giardino and Rachel Cuevas with 9 each. Shelly Reboul and Fisher combined for 28 assists.

Bay High was led by Kendra Reed with 16 points and Lindsey Trotter added 9 points. Reed also had 9 kills and Tamara Reed tallied 17 assists.

OLA head coach Mike Meyers stated, "Bay High played very well. We struggled early to defend the plays they were making and beating us on. We hung in there and made some adjustments. We got the ball where we needed it and hung on for the win. I am very proud of our girls because they made the adjustments they needed to in order to win this game. However, a tremendous amount of credit goes to Bay High because they played exceptional tonight."

OLA won the junior varsity (12-2, 4-0) match 25-12 and 25-16. Ansley Blalock led OLA with 9 points and 12 assists while Jaime Reisch added 9 kills.

On September 30, the OLA Crescents defeated the Pass Christian Lady Pirates 25-12, 25-10, and 25-18. Annie Giardino tallied 13 points followed by Margaret Rittner with 12 points. Rachel Cuevas had 10 kills and Lauren Renz 8. Jordan Fisher dished out 12 assists and Shelly Reboul 8 in the win.

On September 28, the Bay High Lady Tigers defeated Pass Christian 25-4, 25-22 and 25-9. Kendra Reed served 14 points and Tamara Reed added 12 points and 13 assists. Destiny Flood had 7 kills in the win.

On September 30, Bay High defeated Mercy Cross 25-8, 25-8 and 25-6 to complete the district play in second place and advance to the first round of the state playoffs. Kendra Reed led the team with 17 points followed by Hannah Johnson with 13.

A terrific team effort brought Hancock a win in five games over Oak Grove 25-15, 25-23, 23-25, 23-25 and 15-8.

Courtney Vincent led Hancock with 17 points and Tiffany Appel added 16 points.

SSC cruises to win while Bay, Hancock & Pass fall; Cure & Elkins lead the way

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws put up some big numbers in their 49-21 win over Vancleave on Friday. Bay High, Hancock, and Pass Christian all gave tremendous efforts but came up short in the win column.

The Rocks move to 4-1 overall and 2-0 in Division 8-4A with their 49-21 rout of the Bulldogs on the road at Vancleave's homecoming.

In the game, Mike Cure had six receptions for 146 yards including a 63-yard touchdown in the second quarter. With that reception, Cure became SSC's all-time leader in receiving yards. He currently has 1,442 yards in his career.

Lee Klein started the scoring for SSC with a 6-yard run in the opening quarter followed by 19-yard scoring pass from Lance Cuevas to Stefan Sofianos later in the frame.

Zach Elkins returned a fumble two yards for a Rock score early in the second quarter followed by a 40-yard run by Josh Duplessis. Cure's score gave SSC a halftime lead of 35-7. The Rocks got two more touchdowns in the second half. Duplessis scored from 14 yards out in the third quarter and Cuevas hit Brennen Thomas for a 7-yard score in the fourth quarter.

Cuevas threw for 246 yards on 13-of-22 passing with three touchdowns and two picks. Cuevas has thrown for 838 yards and 10 touchdowns on the season. Duplessis rushed for 180 yards on 15 carries and now has 548 yards and six scores on the season.

Defensively, the Rocks were led by Lee Klein with 13 total tackles and Jordan Ellis with 11. Elkins added 9 total tackles to his fumble return for a touchdown. Cure ended the game with 5 tackles and a 74-yard interception return that ended Vancleave's final possession.

On Friday evening, the St. Stanislaus Alumni Association will be installing their first class of the "Great Wall of Rocks." This hall of honor will recognize former athletes, coaches, administrators and other alumni supporters for their continued dedication to the development of the Rock-a-chaw athletic program through the character and principles instilled in them by the Brothers of the Sacred Heart while at SSC.

This year's inductees are Felix "Doc" Blanchard, Jr. (class of 1942), J. E. Loiacano (class of 1960), Curtis R. St. Mary (class of 1970), Stephen F. Peterman (class of 2000) and the 1938 undefeated Rock-a-chaw football team.

The Rocks will host division rival Pass Christian (0-6) on Friday in between the walls at the Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex. The Pirates dropped their game with D'Iberville last Friday 31-14. Game time is set for 7pm. Inductees for the "Great Wall of Rocks" will be presented to the crowd at halftime.

The Bay High Tigers (4-2, 1-1) dropped their second consecutive game on Friday night to the Gaudier Gators 22-17 on the road.

Bay High took the early lead at 3-0 on a Kyle Moran field goal. Gautier came right back, though, to take the lead 8-3 following a swap of turnovers for both teams.

The Tigers regained the lead on a Gator miscue one possession later. The Tigers recovered a fumble deep in Gator territory and Corbin Blaize connected with Brad Ladner for a 7-yard score and the Tigers led 10-8 with Moran's PAT.

However, within a span of two minutes before halftime, the Gators sealed the game with two scores. The first one was a 25-yard scoring pass followed by a 3-yard run to lead 22-10.

The Tigers shut the Gators out of the endzone in the second half and Blaize and Ladner hooked up for Bay High's last score of the game early in the final quarter on a 5-yard pass play.

Antonio Hawkins led the Tiger ground attack with 130 yards on 22 carries. Blaize threw for 131 yards on 10-of-23 passing with two scores and two picks. Ladner had five catches for 50 yards and two touchdowns while Lorenzo Lewis had three catches for 62 yards.

Bay High will hit the road again on Friday to take on D'Iberville. The Warriors defeated Pass Christian last week 31-14. Game time is set for 7:30pm.

The Hancock Hawks (0-6, 0-2) dropped a region game to the 10-ranked Oak Grove Warriors at Brett Favre Field 41-6.

The offensive line, in particular Travis Hall and Scott Nesom, received praise for its effort from head coach Walt Esslinger as Hancock rushed for nearly 200 yards between three players.

Braxton Necaise carried the ball 20 times for 60 yards followed by Mark Fairley with 77 yards on 19 carries and Ronnie Thomas added 55 yards on 16 rushes.

The Hawks were hindered on defense as three starters were unable to play. The Hawks' lone score came on a quarterback keeper from four yards out by Necaise in the second half.

Hancock will hit the road for a long ride to Northwest Rankin on Friday evening for their next region game. Game time is set for 7:30pm.

The Pass Christian Pirates (0-6, 0-3) fell to the D'Iberville Warriors (8-3, 1-2) 31-14 last Friday.

The Warriors took an early lead of 7-0 but the Pirates came right back behind the legs of Jaren Bowser who accounted for 62 of the 95 yards on the scoring drive.

The Warriors ran the score to 24-7 before Chad Moore hit Bowser for a 25-yard score to cut the lead to 24-14.

The Pirates will travel across the Bay of St. Louis to tangle with the Rock-a-chaws of St. Stanislaus in a division contest.

The Offensive Player of the Week for Week #6 is SSC's Mike Cure who had six catches for 146 yards and a touchdown. His touchdown reception covered 63 yards and vaulted him to the top of the all-time receiving yards list at SSC with 1,442 yards.

The Defensive Player of the Week for Week #6 is SSC's Zach Elkins who tallied nine total tackles, a pass break-up and a fumble recovery returned for a touchdown in the Rocks 49-21 win over Vancleave.

See you at the game!

18th Annual Fall Muster at Beauvoir

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Beauvoir, The Jefferson Davis Home and Presidential Library in Biloxi, Mississippi, will host the 18th Annual Fall Muster on October 16 and 17, 2004 from 9am to 5pm each day. This event is following the progression of the war and is now portraying 1864 along the Gulf Coast of Mississippi.

Co-sponsored by Beauvoir and the Mississippi Division, United Sons of Confederate Veterans, this event was established to help interpret the Gulf Coast's role in the War Between the States. The muster has grown from modest beginnings into a major event with over 450 volunteer living historians from several states and enjoyed by more than 2400 visitors each year.

This event is proudly held on the grounds of the last home of President Jefferson Davis in Biloxi, Mississippi, and the highlight of each day's activities will be the conflict-style reenactment each afternoon. Other activities include, medical demonstrations, ladies tea and fashion show, and both adult and junior cavalry, artillery and infantry drills. An outdoor mass will be held on the evening of the 16th and period church service will be held the morning of the 17th. Back again this year will be a box dinner auction on Saturday the 16th, ladies of the camps will be creating authentic dinners for the auction where everyone is invited to bid on their favorite.

This annual event has something for everyone, visitors can wander among the Confederate campsites and chat with the camp members, or they can cross the battle lines to swap stories with the Federal troops. Children can try their hand at period crafts and everyone can join in to learn the Virginia reel from members of the Yesteryear Young Dancers. Shopping is available at the Beauvoir Gift Shop as well as Sutler's Row with items for every occasion, from a new bonnet or a new pair of long johns to a flag flown over Beauvoir. Visitors can also enjoy period music, tapes and videos, books and other goodies. Food vendors will be on site to entice visitors with hearty meals.

For this event, Beauvoir offers a special two-day ticket, so that visitors can enjoy twice the fun!

Council has endorsed the $2.5 million bond issue for a new jail. The council made the endorsement after hearing a brief statement from May Perkins, publicity co-chairman for the Jail Committee.

Waveland Mayor John Longo, Jr. and the Board of Aldermen added their names to the Hancock County Jail Committee's list of endorsements for a $2.5 million bond issue for a new county jail.

Platform guests included, Ebbie Spevy, Mississippi's Republican Party chairman; Gulfport's Mayor Jack Brown; Representative Trent Lott, 5th Congressional District; Harrison County Sheriff Larkin Smith; David Armstrong, 4th District Congressional candidate; Evelyn McPhail of Diamondhead, Mississippi's Republican National committeewoman; and Less Range, Reagan-Bush campaign co-chairman.

FORTY YEARS AGO

October 1, 1964 - Blood donors turned out in record numbers last week for the emergency drawing called by the Hancock County Blood Bank and contributed 239 pints of the precious plasma. Previous high was 226 pints. Actually 248 persons appeared when the Red Cross regional bloodmobile appeared at the Legion home and there were nine rejects.

Blood Bank John D. Rutherford, Jr., said this was the smallest amount of rejects ever here. The drawing has enabled the local bank to repay the 93 pints it had overdrawn from the Red Cross supply center and have enough for the balance of the year.

Appointment of Joe K. Duckworth of Pearlinton as county Republican precinct chairman was announced this week by Wilson Webre, GOP chairman for the county. Duckworth succeeds James Mayfield who has resigned from the post and will have jurisdiction over appointments of Republican chairman for every precinct in the county. He is to work very closely with Mrs. Fred Wagner, who is getting out the vote in the Nov. 5 presidential election.

Hancock Countians kept a watchful eye late Wednesday on the progress of Hurricane Hilda as she moved across the Gulf of Mexico and threatened to slowly turn in this direction. Bayou Caddy was evacuated by mid-afternoon Wednesday and there was a steady procession of boats up the Jourdan River to safer waters. Brother Joel who handles the weather observation station at St. Stanislaus College was instructed by the U.S. Weather Bureau at Mobile to report every three hours on wind direction, barometer reading, tide and conditions of the skies.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

October 7, 1954 - The hundred birthday of St. Stanislaus, Bay St. Louis' famous preparatory school, for some of the country's best known men will be celebrated with impressive religious and colorful civic ceremonies this weekend. This institution founded by the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, and nourished by them, through fire and flood, to its present highest cultural level will entertain hosts of visitors. The president of St. Stanislaus, Brother Roland, will be in charge of the celebration. The Most Rev. R.O. Gerow, S.T.D., will be celebrant for a Pontifical Mass at 4 p.m. on Sunday. Saturday night the program will begin at the school with George L. Seuzeneau, Jr., acting as master of ceremonies. Other speakers will be Robert L. Genin, local attorney and a graduate of St. Stanislaus, also, Bay St. Louis Mayor John A. Scaffide, and Edmond Brignac, Jr. Music will be by the famous St. Stanislaus band. Members of the class of 1904 to 1904 will be honored. The school has had many remarkable leaders, among them Brother Peter, who was at St. Stanislaus for 30 years; and Foster Commegere, who brought athletic greatness to the institution. Stanislaus members among its noted grads are, Pulitzer Prize winner, Ralph S. O'Leary of the Houston Post; John Chase, famous cartoonist; Marchie Schwartz and Felix (Doc) Blanchard of football fame; Zeke Bonura of the baseball world; the recently honored Ted Perry, who was president of Boys' Nation and many others. In addition to the many visiting Church dignitaries who will participate in the ceremonies, Sunday will be the choir from St. Augustine's Seminary and the local Knights of Columbus, who will act as honor guards.

YEARS AGO SIXTY

October 6, 1944 - M.M. Michel Witter, United States Seabees, arrived from the Southwest Pacific and is spending leave here with his wife, the former Lucille Murphy, and his parents Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Witter. He entered the service in October, 1942, and went overseas in January, 1943 and this is his first leave.

Pvt. Henry C. Poillon, Jr., of the Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Poillon is reported wounded in action in the European War area. Further particulars are not known.

Corporal Henry Seube, Jr., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seube of this city. Cpl. Seube was slightly wounded early in the Italian campaign and his parents were sent his Purple Heart Award. He recovered and returned to the fighting front where he was again seriously wounded, necessitating the amputation of his left foot. He is now somewhere in an Army Hospital and hopes to be sent home.

The Sea Coast Echo is participating in the Newspaper in Education Program for the 2004-2005 School year. Sponsors are needed to help provide newspapers for classroom use. During the 2003-2004 school year, all area schools participated in the NIE Program.

You can help by sponsoring a specific teacher(s) at one or more of our schools. Sponsorships are $150 per class per year.

N.I.E. and YOU make it possible to put our local newspaper in the classrooms to put students in touch with what is happening in their community. Thanks to you, N.I.E. is possible!

Newspapers In Education is a program in which newspapers supplement traditional teaching materials in the classroom. N.I.E. programs are provided to local schools through paid sponsorship programs.

Newspapers In Education programs teach with the newspaper. Students learn to become critical thinkers through reading, analyzing and discussing newspaper stories and editorials. They use the knowledge they gain to engage in conversations with peers and family members.

If you would like to be an NIE SPONSOR or if you are a teacher and would like to use the Echo's N.I.E. program in your classroom you may contact RITA BREUN, N.I.E. coordinator at THE SEA COAST ECHO 467-5474.

N.I.E. Sponsors will be recognized several times in The Sea Coast Echo.

Pets -- feathers

entirely trained out of them. Their loud vocalizations have to be heard to be believed, they can be incredibly messy, and can reduce a room's worth of woodwork to splinters in just minutes. Parrots are extremely social, and if deprived of activity and interaction they can develop neurotic symptoms like self-mutilation.

Some types of parrots can live 60 years or more, but sadly very few enjoy this longevity, primarily because of improper diets. Providing a good diet to pet birds has become easier due to the advent of pelleted formulas, but you will still need to feed a variety of fruits, vegetables, and other foods. To help keep your parrot healthy, it's also recommended that you see an avian veterinarian for yearly check-ups. Birds instinctively conceal signs of illness, so early detection of problems is critical. Appropriate housing is also very important, cages and perches for big birds can be extremely pricey. Don't skimp on size or quality, provide your bird with as much room as possible and ensure it's safe for a parrot's powerful beak.

You'll spend a lot of time cleaning, so make sure your bird's home is easy for you to service, too.

The small members of the parrot family, such as parakeets, lovebirds, and cockatiels, are equally enjoyable. They don't require quite the level of intense care the "big guys" do, are less destructive and quieter, and are a good choice if you want an interactive bird but haven't the time or space for a large parrot. Finches, canaries, domestic pigeons and doves make lovely pets, although they generally are not as responsive to humans. These types of birds are usually kept for their beauty, activity, soft vocalizations, and song. Large or small, a bird can add pleasure to your home and life.

GOIN' BACK IN TIME – Visitors to downtown Bay St. Louis during last year's Cruisin' the Coast compared the experience to "stepping out of a time machine." Nearly 6,000 classic cars from all over the United States and Canada are expected this year.

Cruisin' the Coast 2004 is finally here!

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Cruisin' the Coast kicked off its eighth year on Sunday with an official pre-party at Choice Grocery in Hardy Court in Gulfport. A week-long series of events continues now through Sunday, Oct. 10.

For the first time, the city of Waveland will be a major Cruisin' venue. Coleman Avenue will be open only to registered cruisers and pedestrians.

Tommy Longo, mayor of Waveland, said Friday that he was thrilled to finally be a part of Cruisin' the Coast.

"We're just extremely excited. It's something that the community and the businesses have been pursuing for the past four years. We're extremely excited at the opportunity to show off our city of Waveland, and open our arms and hospitality to the cruisers."

This year, Longo said, Waveland has set aside a section of its streets for a "burnout" track.

"We have an area on the course that we've safely designated for the cars to kind of show off their muscle," Longo said. One of those things about those older cars is that they're muscle cars. The owners took a lot of care in their restoration."

Longo said that there would be several other events lined up for the Waveland venue, including a seafood broil sponsored by Lil' Ray's from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and a drive-in movie on Friday and Saturday night a 5 p.m. and 7 p.m.

"We have a few special events. We have the advantage of experimentation from other communities. We know what they like and don't like," Longo said.

Mickey Lagasse, Hancock County building official, said he had been trying to arrange for a drive-in movie during Cruisin' the Coast for years.

Lagasse said the films will be shown in the old Wal-Mart parking lot. He stressed that it was not intended to be a Cruisin'-only event.

"We want as many residents as we can get," Lagasse said. "As much fun as Cruisin' is, the local residents get inconvenienced. We're hoping that the drive-in can be our way of saying thank you."

Lagasse said that the films would be shown on a giant screen over the parking lot, and the audio tracks would be broadcast over a radio station that movie-goers could tune into.

Lagasse said that he wanted to keep the two films secret for now, but added that they would be classics from the drive-in age. Admission will be $5 per car, no matter how many occupants.

Kathy Pinn, president of the Coleman Avenue Coalition and owner of That Cute Little Shoppe, said that Waveland merchants were looking forward to the crowds.

"We're hoping it brings a lot of people down. Coleman Avenue has a lot to offer. We have some of the best restaurants and stores, and I think I have one of the cutest shops."

Pinn said that the entire town was working hard to make this year's Cruisin' the best yet.

"The mayor and the city are working really hard. Everyone's getting ready. We're going to have 50s music, and be dressed like it was the 50s. We're ready to have a good time with the cruisers." You can register for Cruisin' The Coast on site at Gulfport Rice Pavilion.

Rev up your assets with the TurboCD from The Peoples Bank

PRESENTED BY
THE PEOPLES BANK

3.75% APY
60 month CD

If you want to give your assets
the safety of FDIC-insured deposits but keep the option of taking advantage of rising interest rates, you need a TurboCD from The Peoples Bank.

A TurboCD gives you the opportunity to increase your interest rate one time during the life of the CD. When you are ready to take advantage, you simply make one phone call to 800-873-6468 and tell us you want to charge up your assets. You'll receive the new interest rate for the remaining term of the CD—with no charge, no penalty for changing the rate.

Visit or call any of the 15 branches of The Peoples Bank to learn how you can give your assets a one-time boost with our exclusive TurboCD.

THE PEOPLES BANK

"WHERE PEOPLE COME FIRST"

ESTABLISHED 1896

*Limited time offer. $1,000.00 minimum deposit required. The ANNUAL PERCENTAGE YIELD (APY) assumes interest will remain on deposit until maturity. Early withdrawal penalties apply. The rate can be adjusted one time during the term, and will be effective for the remainder of the term. Automatic renewal at maturity without the increase rate option.
